Maiders of Second Mortange Roads Trying to lind Out What Scrapity They Have.

Effect 1 now making to reorganize the Valley Railery Company of Ohio have brought to light a condition of affairs that in some respects, surpasses, any disclosures yet made of peculiar methods in railway management. The read, which is only 88 miles long, including breaches, extends from Cleveland to Valley Lanction, On and way projected in 1871 by J. H. V. s.le., a prominent Cleveland capitalist now Je uar, 1860, the Baltimore and Ohlo Rallfond Company acquired a controlling interest in the capital stock of the company, paying $400,000 for it. On June 15, 1800, two ed the directors were appointed receivers on a cefault in payment of interest on $1,600,000 first mortgage bonds. The company has also constanting $1,004,000 second mortgage 6 per

The bands were floated, so the holders of them assert, upon representations that in addition to being a secead lien upon the main line they were a first lien upon the terminals of the company is

Cleveland, and upon extensions of the read.

It is now learned that when the first issue of scond mortgage bonds was made the company had been in default for two years and a half in the payment of interest upon its first mortgage bonds. The coupons from those bonds, five in number, for the two and a half years ending June 13, 1882, and aggregating $222,460, had not been paid by the company, but purchased and are now held by the City Savings and Load Association of Cleveland, and the amount is part of the floating indebtedness of the com-While the second mortgage, bonds were being floated the company ran its real estate account up from $477,528 to $1,144,748, but with the transfer of the property to the Baltimore and Ohio Company this Item disappears and a nearly equal amount was entered upon the books of the company under "construction the books of the company under characteristics account. The second mortgage bondhoiders have also discovered that the terminal properties of the company at Clerejand have not been placed under the lien of their mortgage, but are held by three subordinate companies, the actual ownership of which has not yet been dietermined. A part of the terminals are held by the Real Estate and Improvement Company of Baltimore, and the Valley Railway Company pays a rental or the mas of them. Another property is held for the use of them. Another property is held by the Western Berminal Company, and still another mysterious subordinate corporation is the Cleveland Ratiroad Construction and Equip-mentCompany.

the Cleveland Ratiroad Censtruction and EquipmentCompany.

The last mentioned made a contract in October, 1883, with the Valley Railway Company to construct its Newburgh branch, the Akron Belt Line, and to furnish money for general improvements at 8 percent, interest for all advances, which finally amounted to $482,000. The Construction Company held $500,000 of the second mortgage bonds of the Valley Railroad as security for that amount for a long time; but when the Baltimore and Ohio acquired control it borrowed money at a lower rate than 8 per cent, and recovered the collateral deposited under the contract. It is alleged, however, that the title of the Newburgh branch is still vested in the Construction Company.

alleged. however, that the title of the Newburgh branch is still vested in the Construction Company.

The second mortgage bondholders have also discovered that even had the terminals in Cleveland been turned over to the rasiroad company their mortgage would not be a first lieu upon them, as was represented when the bonds were marketed, for the reason that the first mortgage provides that the holders of the bonds secured by it shall have a first lieu upon all property, franchises, and branches that the company might acquire, except extensions south of the city of Camton. That extension, which is about sixteen miles long, is the least important part of the line. Another interesting feature of the company's financing is that since the first issue of second mortgage bonds was made its bills payable have increased from $568,547 to $2,119,205,50f this increase nearly $700,000 has taken place since the Hallimore and Ohlo Company acquired controir. The security holders are naturally asking what has become of the proceeds of the second mortgage bonds, which were marketed at high figures, particularly as the issue has been attended by a rapid increase in the company's floating debt.

The fact that the Baltimore and Ohlo Company paid $400,000 for a majority of the stock of the Valley Ruilway, which, by the way, is held in the name of President Mayer's secretary, and does not appear among the company's assets, cited as evidence that the control was purchased.

in the name of President Mayer's secretary, and ones not appear among the company's assets, is cited as evidence that the dontrol was nurchased in good faith. On the other kand, the Haltimore and Ohio management of the Valley Railway did not disclose the fact of the default upon the first mortgage bonds in 1880, 1881, and 1882, until compelled to do so by a second default ten years later, namely, on Jane 18, 1892. The present management has also retained as a director and Vice-President of the company S. T. Everett of Cleveland, a son-inlaw of Wade and one of the original promoters of the road.

the concealment of the previous default gives them just grounds for complaint against the Baltimore and Obio management, and both are forther exercised by the discovery that the terminals at Cleveland are not owned by the company nor subject to either one of its mortages. They have been aroused to action by a recent attempt of the management to place $1,000,000 of receivers' certificates ahead of both classes of bonds. This effort, which appeared to be a part of a plan to secure the Baftimore and Ohio Company for its endorsements in behalf of the company and to secure control of the property upon a reorganization to the detriment of both classes of bondholders, was successfully resisted in the courts by local bondholders, including the city of Cleveland.

MEETING OF PASSENGER AGENTS Conference in Buffalo in Regard to Business ta Joint Committee Territory,

BUFFALO, Nov. 20 .- A conference of genera passenger agents of all the lines running East from Chicago, and East from Buffalo, com-menced its sitting, but in an informal manner, here this forenoon. The design of the confer ence regards the regulation of passenger traffic on all roads this side of Chicago. As the representatives of some of the lines interested will not reach Buffalo until to-morrow morning or late to-night, it was decided to postpone the late to-night, it was decided to postpone the regular organization of the conference until to-morrow morning. The following gentlemen were present at the preliminary meeting: O. W. Ruggles, Michigan Central; A. J. Smith, Lake Shore; B. F. Horner and F. J. Moore, Nickel Plate; E. J. Richards and E. J. Weeks, New York Central; H. J. Ball, Delayare, Lackawana and Western; General Passenger Agent Lee, Lehigh Valley, Leslie P. Farmer, the Commissioner of the Trunk Linea Passenger committe, was present from New York in his official capacity.

May Reorganize the Association. CHICAGO, Nov. 20.-The Chicago Great Western, the Wabash and the Alton have notified Chairman Caldwell of the Western Passenger of their withdrawal from the association, and, with the exception of a few minor lines there remain none but the original four that first started the movement. These are the Burlington, the St. Paul, the Northwestern and the Illinois Central. The St. Paul has sent a notice to the Chalrman, in which it expresses its determination of remaining in the association as long as there is a vestige of it left. The Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern is said to have sent notice of its withdrawal, but it has not yet been regeived. It is the general opinion that the association, will be reorganized completely at the next meeting, which is set for Mouday. In that case it is probable that all the roads would again come in, even the Canadian Pactic and the Santa Fe. which were the earliest seceders. Chairman Caldweit, in that event, would be retained as Chairman of the new organization, and its usefulness would be more than doubled. the Illinois Central. The St. Paul has sent a

Lord & Taylor,

UNDRESSED OUT OF DOORS.

The Doffed Garments Abandoned by Their Owner, Who Is, Apparently, a Barber, In the West Thirty-seventh street police station, behind the Sergeaut's desk, awaiting an wner, is the clothing of a man who disrobed in the front yard of Henry F. Dirkes's house at 319 West Thirty-first street, at 2:50 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Dirkes was awakened at that hour by hearing some one trying to get into his house by the froat and basement doors alternately. Arm-ing himself with the poker he went to a window on the first floor, and opened it to see what was going on. Walking impatiently about the little yard in front of the house was a slight, wellfressed man, with a light moustache. He had a bunch of keys in his hand, with one of which he tried first the front and then the basement door. "What's the matter?" asked Mr. Dirkes from the window. "What do you want at this time of night?" "Want?" shricked the stranger, "I want to get in. I live here. Come down and open the door, and be quick about it, too."

"Rats." said Mr. Dirkes. "You're either mad or drunk. You don't belong here; this is my house. You've made a mistake. Take my advice and go home to your folks," and he banged down the window.

The man in the yard turned to go, stopped and thought a moment, and then, without saying a vord, dropped his hat on the ground and began to take off his overcoat. He laid that garment next to the hat, emptied his pockets, and then, in succession, took off his coat, vest, collar and cuffs, shoes, trousers, and socks, until he stood clad only in a white shirt and pair of woollen drawers.

As the garments were doffed one by one, Mr. Dirkes, who stood watching behind the window again be called to a man who was passing on the other side of the street to fetch a policeman. Policeman Quinn, the champion baseball player of the force, who was standing on the corner of Eighth avenue half a block away, came up just in time to see a white figure disappearing in the darkness in the direction of the North River. He followed for some distance, but an active man, unencumbered by superfluous clothing, is a better sprinter than even a crack baseball player in a policeman's winter uniform, and after a few minutes Quinn gave up the chase and returned.

A search of the yard resulted in the following

after a few minutes Quinn gave-up the chase and returned.

A search of the yard resulted in the following articles being discovered and inventoried by the policeman: A new black derby hat, with the name of a Howery maker; a new black sack suit, also made on the Bowery; a black melton overcoat, a pair of fan shoes, a collar and pair of cuffs containing gold-plated buttons, a pair of socks, a gold watch and chain, a solitaire diamond ring, 70 cents, and a bank-book of the Dry Dock Savings Bank made out in the name of John F. Castle.

An examination of the clothing at the station showed that the pockets contained also a pair of gloves slightly stained with blood the business card of a German sausage maker, and an empty envelope addressed to John E. Castle, care of Louis Merserer, 116 West Thirty-fifth street. It was noticed also that the cuffs left behind by the stranger were slightly blood-stained at the edges, as though the wearer had cut or bruised his hands.

The address written on the envelope found in

The address written on the envelope found in

The address written on the envelope found in the coat pocket of the missing man proved to be that of a barber's shop kept by Louis Merserer. On being furnished with a description of the stranger and his clothing, the barber said he had not the slightest doubt that the man was his assistant, whom he knew only as "John."

He had hired him four months are through an employment agency at 317 East Thirty-fourth street, and had found him a steady and sober man. Any doubt he had as to the missing man's identity was set at rest by the fact that John, for the first time-since he had been in Merserer's employ, failed to appear at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, the hour at which his work began.

SUPT. BYRNES'S COMPLAINT. Saloon-keeper Coleman Likely to Lose His License Because of It.

The Excise Board will try to-day Patrick Coleman on a charge of keeping a disorderly saloon at 34 Catherine street. It is quite proba grounds contained in the following communication sent by Superintendent Byrnes to the Ex cise Board :

"In compliance with general order No. 301, I herewith submit the following report: "About 7 P. M., Oct. 18, Leonard Gay of 71 New Chambers street with two men entered the saloon at 34 Catherine street to get a drink. put down a five-dollar bill in payment. The barput down a five-dollar bill in payment. The bartender, John Calwan, gave the bill to an unknown man to change. The man failed to return. Gay made a complaint to the Fourth precinct station house. Policeman W. S. Bartow went to investigate. The hartender, who admitted the facts as stated, said that if Gay would return about 11 o'clock the change would be returned to him. Gay returned at that time, and the bartender and two men beat him. John Calwan and John Johnson were arrested, and before Justice Ryan in the Tombe Calwan was held in $300 to answer. Johnson was discharged."

held in $300 to answer. Johnson was dis-charged."

The Excise Board sent an inspector to Capt.
Slavin of the Oak street station to ask him to sign a statement that the saloon at 34 Catherine atreet was a headquarters for thieves. This Capt. Slavin refused to do, because he has not been in the precinct long enough to make such a bold charge, and because Coleman has only been conducting the saloon a short time. The Excise Board took the license away from Cole-man's predecessor on a similar charge.

FUNERAL OF DR. CARROLL.

Buried from the Church in Which He Was Married Three Years Ago. The funeral of Dr. Alexander F. Carroll of Brooklyn, son-in-law of ex-Register Hugh Mc Laughlin, took place yesterday morning from the Jay street cathedral, in which he was married three years ago. The old church was crowded, and there were many floral tributes. Father Mitchell, chancellor of the diocese, celepated the mass, and Bishop McDonnell gardien blessing. Dr. Carroll had suffered from kidney trouble for more than ten years. When he was married he told some friends who called to congratulate him that he did not expect to live more than five years.

Mgr. Satolli at a Church Fair.

Mgr. Satolli had his first experience of a church fair on Monday night. He was the guest of Mgr. Scion, rector of St. Joseph's Church in Jersey City. Father Seton enter tained the Delegate and Dr. Papi, his secretary, at dinner, and afterward escorted them to the at dinner, and afterward escorted them to the fair in Pavonia Hall. All the pretty girls in the parish are attending the tables at the fair and exercising their blandishments in the com-mendable work of sending the visitors away in a condition of financial collapse. Mgs. Satolia and his secretary moved around in the crowd from one table to another and admired all the beautiful articles. The young women refrained from asking them to take any chances. The visitors remained at Father Seton's house all night, celebrated mass resterday morning, and after break fast took the train for Baltimore.

MORE INDICTED OFFICERS.

DETECTIVE PRINK AND SERGEANT O'TOOLE ACCUSED OF BRIBERY.

They Give $5,000 Ball on Charges Grow-ing Gut of "Do," Whitehead's Testimony Potteemen Accused of Fraud in Civil Service Examinations Retuse to Testify, The Grand Jury on Monday indicted Detective Sergeant William E. Frink of Inspector McLaughlin's staff and Sergeant William O'Toole, commanding the Essex Market Police

Court squad, for bribery. The indictments originated in the testimony of "Dr." Newton Whitehead before the Lexon committee. The indicted policemen presented themselves yesterday before studge Fitzgerald, accompapied by their bondsmen and their counsel. Frink was cool and collected, but Sergeant O'Tonle, who is a much older man, with a large family, was evidently much dis-turbed. Eath pleaded not guilty. Bail in $5,000 was turnished for Frink by Abraham Schlessinger of 240 East Fifty-third street, and for O'Tools by John Howard of 31 Bovery. The cases were transferred for trial to the Court of Oper and Terminer.

There are two inductments against Frink. One charges that on Feb. 24 last Frink arrested Whilehead on a charge of unibractice, and accepted a bribe from aim of $500 in con-sideration of failing to asked the presecution by producing neressary testimony against him. The other indictment charges that on April Frink accepted $50 as a bribe for falling to execute another warrant intrusted to him for the arrest of Whitehead until the day following its issue. The indictment against Sergeant O'Toole slieges that on April 10, while in command of the Essex Market Police Court squad, he accepted a bribe of $200 from Whitehead as a condition of not properly performing his duty as a police officer, and for the purpose also of using his influence in the Doctor's favor, contrary to his duty as a police officer.

Sergeant George G. Liebers was arraigned be fore Judge Ingraham in the Court of Over and Terminer vesterday on charges of bribery in Terminer yesterday on charges of bribery in seven different cases. Lawyer A. T. Jenks, his counsek presented a demurrer setting forth that the charges did not make out a crime. The motion was overruled and Liebers pleaded not guilty. He is accused of receiving $5 bribes for taking bast.

The Police Commissioners began an investigation yesterday into the charges against Roundsman Joseph Devlin of the Union Market squad and Patrolmen Dennis Keating of East Eighty-eighth street, Herman F. Ludwig and John Flatley of Mulberry street, Richard Burk of East Thirty-fifth street, Solomon Cohen of West 195th street, John R. Krusbinsky of Morrisania, John Dowling of Tremont, Adolphus W. Rehage of East Eighty-eighth street, and Edgar F. Douglass of East Nixty-seventh street station, who, it is alleged, obtained their appointments on the police force through fraudulent civil service examinations.

F. Douglass of East Sixty-seventh street station, who, it is alleged, obtained their appointments on the police force through fraudulent civil service examinations.

It is alleged that these papers are not in their handwriting. Assistant District Attorney Wellman informed the Board that in his opinion the policemen are guilty of felony. The Police Commissioners can't try them, because the alleged offence was committed before they were policemen; but the investigation proceeded on the theory that the men could be questioned and dropped from the force if it appeared that they were disqualified from appointment. This might have worked if the policemen had not embloyed lawyers who disputed the jurisdiction of the Board, and on whose advice the men declined to confide to the Poard any information about what happened before their appointment. Policeman Keating was called and ordered to write his name on a slip of paper. Under advice of counsel he refused. D. N. Carvalho, called as an expert in handwriting, testified that there were two handwritings in Keating's papers. Douglass's case took the same course, Carvalho swearing that one of the handwritings in his papers was the same as one in Keating's. Rehage also refused to write his name, and Carvalho testified that his papers were in two hands. Lawyer Howe and Mr. Weliman had a tiff, which culminated in the former asking the Assistant District Attorney whom he appeared for. Mr. Wellman took no notice of the question. "It is very evident whom he appears for," said President Martin.

"Does he appear for you?" asked Mr. Howe, "Yes," responded the Commissioner.

"Well, you may need him, and sooner than you anticipate," said Lawyer Howe.

A motion to dismits these cases was denied. The others will be heard later.

ROBBERIES NEAR ENGLEWOOD. Highwaymen and Burgiare Having It All Their Own Way.

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Nov. 20.-On Thursday night the houses of Augustus Short, John Dob-son, and Robert Lewis, on the old Closter road, were broken into and small articles carried away. At W. C. Yetyen's in Main street the burglars got Mr. Yetyen's trousers, with $70 cash, a gold watch, and Mrs. Yetyen's diamond earrings. Three doors away, at the home of ex-State Secretary George Dayton, the burglars secured only a small sum of money. At John Ferdon's house, also in Main street, the thieves entered the bedroom of Warren Ferdon and stole his clothes. They then fastened his door by running a piece of clothes line from the knob to the knob of another door, after which they went through John Ferdon's room. He was awakened, and the robbers fied, but took his trousers, which, with those of his son, were found on the piazza, rified of nearly $60.

Oscar Ward's saloon was robbed of six quarts of whiskey, 200 cigars, and several dollars. Last night C. J. Sterling, the West Shore station agent at Schraalenburg, west of Closter, started for his home, about 100 yards from the station, in Quackenbush avenue. The dwellings of John Overarker and John Coldingham are on opposite sides of the avenue, about midway between Sterling's home and the railroad station. There are no lights in the village. Mr. Sterling heard footsteps behind him. The next instant he received a blow on the back of the head that knocked him into the gutter. He yelled, and Mr. Overarker and Mr. Coddingham came out and the robbers fied in the direction of the depot and down the railroad track.

Agent Sterling was taken to his home. He had an ugly scalp wound, and was unable to leave his bed to-day. Neighbors started out in search of his assailants, but did not find them. went through John Ferdon's room. He TYPHOID IN NEW HAVEN. The Fever in Six of the Cases Attributed to Raw Oysters.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 20.- Typhoid fever is in creasing rapidly in this city, and many of the cases, like those among the Wesleyan students. are attributed to eating raw oysters. Three members of the family of H. M. Kochersperger, Comptroller of the Consolidated Railroad, are ill with the fever, and several others who dined with him on Oct. 28 are also dangerously ill with the disease. On that date Mr. and Mrs. Kochersperger celebrated the anniversary of their marriage with a dinner party. Part of the menu consisted of oysters on the half shell. Some of the guests are of them and others did Some of the guests ate of them and others did not. It is not known just how many did eat of the oysters, but Mr. Kochersperger's three sons did, and within ten days after the celebration they were taken down with typoid fever. Three of the guests are now sick with the same fever. Health Officer Wright is at work on the case and this morning made some investigations. The oysters were purchased of a local dealer in fish and oysters, who is not an oyster grower. He says that the oysters were from Long Island. A few cases of what appears to be typhoid fever appeared at Yale last week, four men being at present at the infirmary, one of whom, lienry Williams Sago of Ithaca, N. Y., a senior, was reported as very seriously sick. Charles D. tiale and William Delano, who were taken to the infirmary because it was thought they showed signs of the fever, were said to be doing well and in all probability have not the fever. The most recent case was that of Herbert Hawkes. 96: who is at the infirmary with symptoms of the fever.

away from the house. On investigation it was found that the father of the boys was trying to escape from some of his creditors and avoid the service of a warrant for his arrest, issued by Justice Vreeland.

Smith, according to a story told in Police Justice Bougiass's court by Eben Peck, who keeps a piano store in Arcanum Hall, moved to Greenville about a month ago. He said he had $15,000 in hank, and Peck took him into partnership. Peck sold him the music box for $70. On the strength of his association with Peck, Smith secured credit with a number of tradesmen in Greenville, and lately warrants were procured for his arrest on cherges of false pretences. The police went to Smith's house and found it denuded of furniture. Mrs. Smith, who was there with some of her children, did not know where her bushand was.
